WOMAN AND HOME

Under this department receipts, ideas, experiences and information of interest are solicited

Don't Send My Boy
Don't send my boy where your girl can't go,
And say, "There's no danger for boys, you know,
Because they all have their wild oats to sow."
There is no more excuse for my boy to be low
Than your girl. Then please do not tell him so.
This world's old lie is a boy's worst foe.

Don't allow him to go to places of sin
And then to your heart and homes take him in,
Saying, "Oh, for a boy there is nothing to fear,
And it don't matter much if he does drink beer;
He will stop by and by; it was always so.
All men and boys have wild oats to sow."

You tell them this and they think it is so,
Not foreseeing that sown, those seeds will grow.
To them the harvest is hidden from view;
Until too late the sowing they rue;
For at last their horror-stricken souls will see
What the outcome of sowing wild oats must be.

Don't send my boy where your girl can't go,
For a boy or a girl, sin is sin, you know,

And my baby boy's hands are clean and white,
And his heart is as pure as your girl's tonight.

In baking cakes, gems and other things which are apt to come out of the pan rough or torn on the bottom, it is said that by cooling the bottom of the pan quickly on ice or on a cloth that is soaked in cold water the article comes out of the pan easily and perfectly whole.

Green Peppers in Tomato Sauce
Cut up two quarts of fresh tomatoes, add one teaspoonful of salt, and boil over a quick fire for half an hour, stirring occasionally; then strain. There should be a pint or more. Put half a cupful of oil in a casserole, and when hot add two cloves of garlic finely minced, fry these until brown. Now add the strained tomatoes, a tablespoonful of minced parsley and three basil or bay leaves. Boil ten minutes. Cut ten green peppers in strips, removing the seeds and stems, add them to the tomato sauce and cook half an hour. Serve hot.
Stuffed Peppers.—Cut off the stem end of four sweet peppers and fill them with rice, chicken, celery, onion juice, salt and pepper to taste. Moisten with olive oil and a little tomato. Sprinkle lightly with cheese and bake forty minutes.

Might Be Different
"Our romance began in a most romantic way. My wife saved me from drowning. She's a magnificent swimmer, you know."

"I notice you don't go out very far now."
"No. I don't know if she would save me again."

Duchess Apples With Onions
A most appetizing dish is this: cut in small pieces, after peeling, a half dozen green duchess apples; cut three onions in slices and put into an omelet pan with a little fat from salt pork; cook until the onions are a light yellow, then add the apples and sufficient water to cook them without burning. As the apples are quite tart, a little sugar improves the dish as to flavor and looks, as it browns better with the sugar. Season with salt and serve hot as an accompaniment to pork chops.
French Custard.—Beat three eggs until light; add one pint of whipped cream, sweetened and flavored to taste. Serve in tall glasses with grated nutmeg over the top or garnished with fresh berries.

Cherry Roll
Sift together two cupfuls of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a pinch of salt. Beat two eggs lightly and add to them a cupful of milk and a rounding tablespoonful of butter, melted. Now mix this with the dry ingredients until a light batter is formed, then stir in two cups of pitted cherries, which have been sweetened. Turn into a greased pudding pan or mold, and steam for two hours; turn out and serve with hard sauce, or plain cream.

Unkind Fate
The "Kind Lady"—You clear off or I'll set the dog on you.
The Tramp—Ah, 'ow deceptive is 'uman natur! For two nights I've slept in your barn, eaten of your poultry, an' drunk of yer cider, and now yer treats me as an utter stranger.

BANNER FASHION HINTS

HER MATINEE COAT.

Rose velvet so thick it almost becomes plush is the material of this beautiful garment. A very full cape is shirred three times on to a black velvet yoke, matching the deep cuffs. Please notice the unusual way of confining the fullness in the back, a buttoned strap. The coat is lined with rose taffeta.

Heard at the Club
"How did you get money to bridge you over?"
"Playing bridge whist."

For the Housewife
Few housewives seem to know that old-fashioned soda is the cheapest washing powder, water softener, etc., on the market. Put a pound or so in a fruit jar and fill with water, adding more water as solution is used until all is dissolved. A tablespoonful in dish water will make soap lather freely or be unnecessary. Two spoonfuls to a pail of water for washing will save soap, strength, time and fabric.

When Wood is Damp
If you have ever gone out into the woods for an autumn picnic, and failed to find any wood dry enough to start your camp fire, you will appreciate this suggestion, which is equally good for campers or for men whose business calls them into the woods at all seasons of the year. Get a few of the little cubes which camp-hor comes in, now-days and carry them in your pocket. One of these will burn long enough to light even a troublesome fire.

Stuffed Onions With Ham
Boil three large Spanish onions whole in salted water until tender, but unbroken. Cool and carefully remove the centers. Chop the centers with three-fourths of a cup of ham, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley and an egg well-beaten, and sufficient cream to moisten. Mix and fill the onions. Place in a casserole, dredge with flour and dot with bits of butter. Pour a little milk in the bottom of the dish and bake twenty minutes, covered. Sprinkle with buttered crumbs and brown uncovered.

In a Tight Place
That woman suffrage is an ally of prohibition the liquor interests everywhere believe. They show this belief by their works. Not long ago the Brewers' Journal, urging separation of the beer and whiskey interests, recognized the enmity between the women of America and the liquor traffic thus:

"The franchise will be extended to all women in this country some day. There is little doubt about that. Within a few years most of our large and industrially developing states will grant the vote to the opposite sex, and where will the brewing business be then if it is still considered to be in alliance with the distillers and whiskey-selling saloons?"

Inasmuch as every political party now in the field stands upon a woman suffrage platform, an interesting question presents itself—What ticket will liquorism support in the coming national election?

Farmers for Prohibition
With but one dissenting vote the Arkansas Farmers' Union, assembled in convention, gave their support to the state-wide prohibition law passed by the last legislature. A re-submission of this law, which went into effect January 1, 1916, has been forced by the liquor interests.

Score One for Prohibition in Maine
When the warships were in the harbor of Portland, Maine, over 2,000 sailors were in the city on ten days' leave of absence. During that time not a sailor was arrested and not a sailor came in contact with a police officer. There was not an indication of drunkenness in public on the part of these boys while they were in port.

No liquor to dealers may be shipped over the government railroad in Alaska. The prohibitive order is signed by the Alaska Engineering Commission.

Bar Room Closing in Canada
The following table gives the last dates on which it was, or will be, lawful to sell liquor by retail in the different parts of the Dominion of Canada:

Prince Edward Island 1901
Saskatchewan June 30th, 1915
Manitoba May 31st, 1916
Nova Scotia June 29th, 1916
Alberta June 30th, 1916
Ontario Sept. 16th, 1916
New Brunswick April 30th, 1917
British Columbia June 30th, 1917
The Yukon Territory July 13th, 1916
Quebec

In the first named five provinces the acts prohibiting liquor-selling have been finally passed.

In British Columbia and the Yukon territory the dates given are the latest dates on which liquor-selling places will operate, provided the prohibitionists win—as they are practically certain to do—in the voting that will shortly take place.

In Quebec province only, prohibiting legislation has not yet been passed, but public opinion will undoubtedly compel it very soon.

The prohibition includes all retail liquor selling, except in Saskatchewan, in which there are still twenty Government-operated liquor shops.

In Nova Scotia, prior to the date named, retail liquor-selling was lawful only in Halifax.

Newfoundland also will finish up her licensed liquor-selling on December 31, 1916.

It is indeed a mighty sweep, and still going on.

Buy Lots Near Ford Tractor Plant—Detroit

Henry Ford Says
"When I get this tractor plant going there won't be any men left to work in munition factories—I'll have 'em all making tractors." And the plant will soon be "going." Plans are also being prepared for two

Today's Poem

THE LABOR GANG

(By B. F. M. Sours)

With the humps of the hills, and the forest trees,
The creek and the mountains and all,
With the glad heart and strong we tote plank along
Or, with hearts as light as our arms are strong,
On the ladders we scale the wall.

We bump our heads on the sprinkling pipes
In the loft where the tinnies are; We don't mind that, if we spoil a hat—
Our heads are hard, and it's good they are,
For it saves a mental jar.

We're white sometimes, we're black sometimes,
A smutty, greasy gang.
As with Uncle Jake we fix a break,
Or a happy hour, for a change, we take,
Some smears shaft to hang.

It's a merry life, it's a jolly crowd,
That lugs and lugs all day;
For health is wealth and this life is health,
Though the years may bring—but they bring by stealth—
The subtle streaks of gray.

But why should we not be a happy lot
If our hearts are pure and strong?
If we bring Christ the King love's offering,
Be it lugging plank, yet our hearts may sing
Till heaven hears our song.

For the Master wrought, in Galilee,
In more than one work-gang,
And burdens bore till arms were sore,
Ah, yes! my sins for me he bore,
And doubtless, too, he sang.

Go, trudge along, with heart of song,
Be glad, you dusky crowd,
We putty window-panes and sing
And pound, 'tis our hearts offering,
Unto the heavenly King.

With the onward march of civilization more opportunities arise for men to make fools of themselves.

Tut-tut
"The word 'reviver' spells the same backward or forward." It was the frivolous man who spoke. "Can you think of another?"
The serious man scowled up from his newspaper. "Tut-tut!" he cried contemptuously.

Let money talk and people will laugh at silly jokes.

Certain-teed Slate-Surfaced Asphalt Shingles

Modern architecture demands a decorative roof.

The newer type of long, low-set roof makes appearance doubly important in choosing a roofing material. Home owners, architects and builders have been quick to appreciate the decorative qualities of CERTAIN-TEED Slate-Surfaced Asphalt Shingles, with their rich, subdued color and their handsome slate surface.

Costing no more than common wood shingles, they far surpass them not only in appearance but in durability and other qualities. In fact no other type of roofing has so many advantages. CERTAIN-TEED Shingles won't curl, buckle, crack or fall off; are spark proof; can't rust; need no painting; lay flat and stay flat; require less labor and no waste in laying, as each shingle is perfect and uniform.

GUARANTEED TEN YEARS
and will last much longer. The body is best quality roofing felt, thoroughly saturated with the General's own blend of soft asphalt and coated with harder asphalt to prevent the soft inner saturation from drying out—then heavily surfaced with genuine crushed slate—green or red.

Whether you are to build or re-roof, CERTAIN-TEED Shingles deserve your investigation. There are CERTAIN-TEED dealers everywhere, see the one near you for full information and prices. Be sure to get the genuine CERTAIN-TEED Shingles.

SAY, MR. FARMER

When in need of Flour, where do you go to buy it? Rather a direct question, but one of importance to us.

Don't you think it would be to your best interests to use home Flour? If you have wheat to sell, where do you go to get the best price for it? If you are in need of bran, shorts, or other mill feed, to whom do you go for your supply?

These are questions of importance, and worthy of your careful consideration. Think them over carefully, and co-operate with us in making this one of the best milling points in the county.
